Essential Ingredient:

Lanolin

Lanolin falls into the lipid-rich emollient class of moisturizers. One of the causes of dry skin is a lack of lipids, which allows water to escape. Lanolin fills in those gaps, preventing future water escape. Skin bio-engineering studies have shown that the durational skin smoothing effect produced by lanolin is immediate, very significant and lasts for many hours. Lanolin is very effective in soothing dry, irritated skin anywhere on your body including the scalp.

Zinc Oxide

Zinc oxide is an inorganic compound mineral widely used in topical ointments for many different skin irritants. Its most common uses are for treating diaper rash, acne, severely chapped skin, and minor scrapes and burns. Zinc oxide is known to have minor astringent and antiseptic properties that make it a healing, protective barrier for the skin. It is the broadest spectrum UVA and UVB reflector that is approved for use as a sunscreen by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and is completely photostable.
